

Arkansas Society of Association Executives was formed in 1978 to bring together people with common interests concerning Arkansas associations and their activities.

ASAE has more than 165 regular members representing more than 100 associations. ASAE members and associated members have been avid supporters of the Youth Ranches, making sure the kids have the opportunity to become productive members of our communities.

Deltic Timber Corporation is a natural resources company focused on the environmentally responsible ownership and management of timberland. Headquartered in El Dorado, AR, the Company's operations are located primarily in Arkansas and north Louisiana. Deltic owns over 438,000 acres of timberland, operates sawmills in Ola, Arkansas, Waldo, Arkansas and is engaged in real estate development in Little Rock and Hot Springs. The Company's developments include Chenal Valley and Chenal Downs in Little Rock and Red Oak Ridge in Hot Springs. Red Oak Ridge is the location of the national 2007 Southern Living "Idea House" which is currently open for tours. Deltic Timber corporation, Inc., is publicly owned and is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol DEL.

Arkansas Sheriffs' Youth Ranch's mission is to address, remedy, and prevent child abuse and neglect by creating safe, healthy, and permanent homes for children.
